

Arts Commons

Vice President, Advancement

THE OPPORTUNITY

Arts Commons is seeking a strategic fundraiser and expert relationship builder as their next Vice President, Advancement. An engaged community leader with a passion for the arts, the new Vice President will lead the development team and fundraising activities for the largest performing arts centre in Western Canada, and the third largest in Canada.

Reporting to the President & CEO, and as a critical member of the Executive Leadership Team, the Vice President, Advancement will work collaboratively with colleagues across the organization, engaging and growing fundraising efforts in support of the organization's many activities and initiatives, and in parallel to the much-lauded Arts Commons Transformation (ACT) project, the largest cultural infrastructure project in Canadian history.

This is a unique opportunity to join an innovative and creative organization that is working to bring arts to the forefront of civic life in Canada's fastest-growing city. Building on the announcement of the largest known philanthropic gift to the performing arts sector in Canadian history from Dave Werklund and family, the new Vice President will directly contribute to strengthening the local arts ecosystem by building partnerships and raising funds that will support the increase of access to the highest quality of cultural experiences.

Overseeing and providing leadership to all contributed revenue-generating ventures, the Vice President, Advancement will be an experienced and resourceful fundraising professional focused on ensuring that annual, campaign, and longer-term goals are achieved. The new incumbent will be a strong coach and mentor, inspiring a high-performing team to even greater heights including four passionate and deeply committed development staff, and working closely with campaign consultants, including KCI.

The Vice President, Advancement will lead all major and principal gift activities, as well as continue to strengthen Arts Commons' relationships with government, business, and industry partners and stakeholders; all while focusing on stewardship and engagement efforts that support a growing community of donors and supporters.

This role will work from the Arts Commons office located at 205 8th Avenue SE, Calgary, Alberta and may include work on evenings and weekends, as dictated by programming and fundraising events. There is occasional travel required for this role, so a valid passport and willingness to travel is required.

ABOUT ARTS COMMONS

Arts Commons is the artistic and civic cornerstone of Calgary’s downtown core, comprised of six world-class resident companies. By championing inclusion and reconciliation and increasing the accessibility and reach of the arts in Calgary, they are reimagining the performing arts and ensuring their rightful place at the centre of civic life.

For almost 35 years, Arts Commons has been a key contributor to the social, economic, cultural, and intellectual life and well-being of Calgarians and visitors. Arts Commons strives to break down barriers to cultural participation by providing an open, accessible, and inclusive gathering space in a central location.

Belief Statement

That equitable access to the arts is a human right.

Responsibility Statement

To redefine a bold and adventurous Calgary by championing and investing in creativity.

Mission Statement

To be an inspirational force where artists, community, and organizations celebrate cultural identities, experience the full breadth of human emotions, and ignite positive change.

Mandate

- To provide and care for artists and arts organizations.
- To ensure equitable access and utilization of venues.
- To foster, promote, and celebrate a vibrant arts community.

Strategic Priorities

The organization's strategic priorities include supporting the artists and arts organizations that call Arts Commons home, including the more than 200 community groups that utilize its venues to realize their missions and to foster opportunities for collaboration across its cultural campus.

Values

- Do the right thing: Behaving with integrity, applying professionalism, being honest, and erring on the side of grace.
- Be our best always: In service, in leadership, in professionalism, and in providing a quality experience.
- Be open: minds, hearts, arms: Through empathy, openness, trust, and collaboration, seizing opportunities to impact our community in a positive way.

ARTS COMMONS TRANSFORMATION

The Arts Commons Transformation (ACT) is a $660 million expansion and modernization project that will create a cultural campus in Calgary’s downtown core that increases access to the arts for all, contributes to the health and emotional wellbeing of all Calgarians, represents a model for how arts organizations can be self-sustaining, is a Canadian and Global hub for the exploration of artistic innovations and partnerships, and creates a ripple effect of economic activity in Calgary’s downtown and beyond. As of the date of publication, Arts Commons has exceeded 75% of its fundraising goal, with construction of the campus already underway.

ACT is part of a comprehensive investment in Calgary’s downtown that will do far more than expand and modernize Calgary’s premiere performing arts centre — it will revitalize the city through both the Arts Commons Transformation and the Olympic Plaza Transformation, fundamentally changing the way people perceive, experience, and talk about the arts. This endeavour will result in a vibrant, accessible, safe, and welcoming campus for all to gather, celebrate cultural identities, improve social cohesion, and enrich lives – both inside the venues and outside on the historic Olympic Plaza.

Landmark Gift of $75M renames Arts Commons as Werklund Centre

In June 2024, Calgarians Dave Werklund and family made the largest known philanthropic gift to the performing arts in Canadian history, reimagining Arts Commons as an arts centre that blends arts, education, social enterprise, and greater civic dialogue. With their unbridled commitment to education and community engagement, this gift marked an opportunity to reimagine a modern civic arts campus.

Arts Commons is investing the $75 million gift towards construction costs, creating the Dave Werklund Education Wing, as well as establishing four funds to support the sustainability of the following institutional priorities: education, accessibility, operations, and an ongoing endowment to rename Arts Commons as Werklund Centre in perpetuity, starting in the 2025-26 season.

Resident Companies

Resident companies are an integral part of the Arts Commons ecosystem, sharing the belief that the arts are a powerful contributor to the health, development, and enrichment of our community.

With the exception of Arts Commons Presents, which is the programming arm of Arts Commons, resident companies are organizations that operate independently with their own staff and boards. As stewards of the performing arts centre, Arts Commons supports these world-class companies by supplying and maintaining venues and administrative spaces, providing facility maintenance services, honoring priority booking of venues, and offering free advertising space throughout the building. As legacy institutions within the complex, resident companies also receive favourable occupancy rates. Arts Commons also has strong relationships with over 200 community and commercial partners who make regular and consistent use of venues and facilities throughout the year.

ADVANCEMENT AT ARTS COMMONS

Arts Commons is a not-for-profit organization and a federally registered charity that is transforming community through the power of the arts. Ticket sales, venue rentals, and other income cover 61% of the annual $16M operating budget, leaving a $6.1M fundraising gap. Donor support helps sustain, enrich, and grow artistic programming, support the development of local artists, and expand arts education initiatives.
